Hello, I'm going to show you what a category tile is.

A category tile is simply a kind of folder that actually contains multiple tiles underneath. They can be recognized by the orange icon that you see here, for example, next to food and drink.

And when I click on this tile, another category opens. And then multiple tiles can hang underneath it.

In this case, category tiles hang underneath again. And I can actually keep creating those endlessly.

As I click on breakfast, word tiles hang underneath here. And so the category food and drink, and then breakfast, opens.
